

ENGAGING SPIRITUAL CONVERSATIONS

I am Reading...

Out golfing, I said to my golfing friends, one a Jew and the other an unchurched and professing Christian, “I am enjoying reading a book, The God Plot, by an Old Testament scholar. The plot, meaning the storyline, is God invites the Jewish people to live in covenant with Him. God says, “If you love and obey me, I will bless you beyond belief.” Instead the covenant people stray to follow sacred cows, climb holy hills, and serve substitute kings. The plot continues as God seeks to persuade them to love Him.

With this introduction conversation was free to follow the interest of my companions.
